Mental Health First Aid training

Train your people as Mental Health First Aiders (MHFAiders®) and they'll get three years of support and exclusive benefits to help them feel empowered and confident in their role

Good mental health means good work

If your people are struggling, your business will struggle too. Research from Deloitte puts the cost of poor mental health to UK employers at £56 billion a year, yet for every £1 spent on wellbeing support there was an average £5 return - this is where we can help. By investing in our training, you are investing in your people and your organisation.

The last few years have been hard on everyone - organisations, employees, and the people supporting them. Amidst a global pandemic, economic uncertainty and changes to the ways we work, the need to support the mental health and wellbeing of your people is greater than ever.

With Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) England training you will be accessing the very best evidence-based Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) course available. Our training is grounded in research, developed with clinical practitioners and proven to increase MHFAiders® confidence in supporting people with mental health issues.

With our new offer, MHFA training doesn't stop when the course comes to an end, MHFAiders® receive continuous support well beyond their initial certification so they are confident, empowered and motivated to carry out their role.
